About Marika and IncrediBullStella

Marika Meeks has often been described as a self-made success. Her knack for business spans decades and Marika's pre-Stella achievements are enough to make even the most seasoned entrepreneur perk up and listen to whatever Marika is about to say.

As the co-owner of a multi-million dollar franchise business, Marika Meeks had what can easily be described as the American Dream.

A great marriage, two accomplished daughters, a beautiful home with no indication it would ever end.

Until she heard the words, “You have breast cancer.”

In an instant, Marika's life turned upside down. Oncology appointments replaced board room meetings. Medicine schedules replaced strategic planning. Tearful, uncertain nights replaced quiet evenings with the family.

Marika's life went from one with plans for the future, to increased uncertainty every day. Falling into a depression, laden with fear, and medical bills piling up, Marika felt little passion for much of anything—until the day she connected with the Fort Wayne Pit Bull Coalition.

“Love at first lick,” is the way Marika describes the moment she and the 65 pound white and tan pit bull laid eyes on each other.
